Welcome

We are pleased to present the Building Stone Institute's 2009-2010 Buyers' Guide, a valuable resource that connects nearly 15,000 architects and design professionals who specify, use and purchase natural stone to the suppliers they want to do business with. Since 1919, the BSI has promoted the value and benefits of natural stone on behalf of quarries, fabricators, dealers, importers, exporters, carvers, restorers, designers and installers, and this year's Buyers' Guide is just one of the tools we use to do so.

Inside, we feature complete contact information for key professionals in the stone industry as well as a handy section that lists each company by its category of business so that you easily and quickly can find the suppliers and products you need.

As a new feature, this Buyers' Guide also will be available online at <http://bsi.officialbuyersguide.net/> to help give those in the stone industry access to products, supplies and services – all with a few clicks of the mouse.

We hope you'll find both versions of the Buyers' Guide to be useful throughout the year.

BSI CODE OF ETHICS

■ We, members of Building Stone Institute, Pledge ourselves to maintain the highest possible standards of business and craftsmanship; to give freely of our time to architects, engineers, builders, contractors, and the public whenever information and help are needed concerning the use, availability, installation, cost, or delivery of natural stone.

■ Stone is a heritage freely given, to be freely used. It is the land itself, waiting for the ingenuity and vision of man to give it beauty and meaning.

■ Stone cannot be manufactured; it cannot be honestly imitated. The permanence, beauty, and economy which are characteristic of stone can be found only in the natural product.

JOIN OVER 300 FIRMS AND THEIR MEMBERS WHO BENEFIT FROM BSI.

Building Stone Institute is a nonprofit, tax-exempt trade association.

Every member and their business interests are important. Every member has an equal voice. Recognizing that many of the members are competitors, they are nonetheless, expected to adhere to a Code of Ethics and to work together to improve our industry.

One of the main goals of BSI is educational—to increase consumer demand for all types of natural stone and to service its member firms. BSI has a Constitution and By-Laws, a Code of Ethics, and is governed by an elected board of 15 persons from the natural stone industry, with term limits, who serve voluntarily without compensation of any type.

Take a moment to look at the many valuable benefits that becoming a member of BSI has to offer. Choosing to join will not only benefit your business but also help to build a stronger voice for the natural stone industry.
